MAYOR WHITNEY DEAD.

One of Brooklyn's Leading Citizens Succumbs at Ripe Age of 98.

Daniel D. Whitney, ex-Mayor of Brooklyn, who was ninety-five years old on Jan. 21, was found dead in his bed at 8.30 A. M. to-day in his home, No. 10 Poplar street, in which he had lived for more than seventy-five years. Mr. Whitney had held various offices of trust in Brooklyn. He never gave up business, and he left his home as usual at 4 A. M. yesterday to go to his hay and feed store, where he spent the day. Dr. Gray, the family physician, said he died from old age. He had not been ill for years. His son, Daniel D. Whitney, Jr., a lawyer, survives him. Three other children are dead. Mr. Whitney was twice a widower.

Government Estimates to Drop. WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Discussing generally government estimates for next year, President Wilson to-day said expenditures for most of the departments would be lower, but that the State Department, because of unusual activities, would have to have more money.

DROP HOE SUIT?

NEVER! SAYS MISS MAE SULLIVAN

Says She Has Retained Congressman to Press $150,000 Heart Balm Action.

DENIES SHE IS BRIDE.

Asserts She Has Plenty of Money but Keeps Its Source Secret.

Miss Mae A. Sullivan, 40-year-old, is NOT going to drop her $150,000 breach of promise suit against Arthur I. Hoe, son of the late millionaire printing press manufacturer.

She said so herself, in tones just like that, when she and her chaperon called on reporters in the Supreme Court Building to-day. The suit was stricken from the calendar yesterday on motion of Hoe's lawyer because her guardian had failed to pay certain costs demanded by the Court.

"I want to deny most emphatically," Miss Sullivan said, "that I intend to drop my suit against Mr. Hoe. The only trouble is that I am poor and cannot afford to pay the large retainers demanded by some New York lawyers. For my new suit, however, I have retained a well known Congressman, who has known me since childhood and who does not want the earth to begin the suit."

Miss Sullivan said she had had conferences with many attorneys, among them William Travers Jerome, Abraham Levy and her former counsel, Mirabeau L. Towns. Some, she said, were ready to take her case because in the former suit the jury favored her eight to four.

"Please deny for me also," said Miss Sullivan, "that I have been married to Henry W. Fox of Chicago. There isn't a word of truth in the report."

"No, I don't care to tell where I got the money to start this new suit. It is enough to say that I have plenty." Hoe admitted in the first trial that because he was afraid Miss Sullivan would tell his wife he had been visiting her he paid her $1,000 a week. He spent $60,000 on her, he said.

He denied he had been guilty of the slightest impropriety with her, though he admitted he formed her acquaintance after a meeting in Fifth avenue. Up to this time Miss Sullivan has had to prosecute her case through a guardian, since she is still legally an infant. On Aug. 23 next, however, she will be of age, but promises to begin her suit again before that time. She demanded $150,000 of Hoe for alleged breach of promise to marry and $75,000 for alleged breach of the contract by which he agreed to pay her $1,000 a week.

Tammany Alderman Head of Board of Canteeniers. By a vote of 17 to 16 Tammany today elected Charles Delaney of the Twenty-fifth Aldermanic District Chairman of the Board of Election Canteeniers. There are thirty-three Aldermen in New York County. The Fusionists used to have seventeen and the Tammanites sixteen of this number. To-day Alderman Frank Mulvan, an independent Democrat with Progressive inclinations, switched his vote from Fusion to Tammany.

The Coward Shoe

Nurses and others will welcome a shoe that relieves indoor "foot fatigue." The Coward Shoe for Nurses combines comfort principles which relieve foot strain, support the ankle, and is most helpful in treating arch troubles. Those whose feet feel the strain of constant standing will find this shoe of immediate relief and lasting benefit.

THROWN INTO DUNGEON, REMEMBERS CITIZENSHIP

German-American Who Denounced King George Freed When He Recalls Naturalization Papers.

Harry Hugo Bach, who came up from Kingston, Jamaica, on the United Fruit Company's steamer Tivives to-day, is glad he has such a good memory. His happy recollection that he was an American citizen freed him from a dungeon in Fort Royal, down Kingston way.

Bach, a resident of New York years ago, went to Kingston and entered the commission business. He also married an English wife. When the war came Harry Bach was with the Governor of Jamaica and denounced King George. Whereupon the outraged Governor clapped Harry Bach into the most dangerous dungeon below the tide level in old Fort Royal. Harry Bach was in the black hole for ten days before he remembered that while in New York he had become an American citizen—and his American citizenship papers stayed away somewhere in his office in Kingston. Through a friend he obtained his American papers and called the attention of the Governor to their existence. The Governor deported Harry Bach.

TWO KILLED IN STREET DUEL.

Lifelong Friends Fight to the Death With Pistols.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 10.—William Lindsay and John Williams, street railway employees and lifelong friends, fought a revolver duel early to-day during a quarrel precipitated by a disagreement of the war. Both were killed. They had worked together on the same car for nine years.

Pennrose's Election Bill $6,075. WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Senator Pennrose, re-elected in Pennsylvania, spent $6,075.57 in his primary contests and the general election, according to his sworn statement sent to-day to the Secretary of the Senate. He reported he received no contributions.
